Premium delivers greater powers
As data use and cyberthreats evolve, how you protect files, apps, and systems must evolve too. Acronis Cyber Protect Home Office Premium delivers superior cyber protection using the leading-edge technologies to ensure your data is authentic, private, and secure.

Easy contract verification
Proving a contract is in force requires verification. Acronis ASign enables people to electronically sign documents like rental, sales, and insurance agreements, while creating an undeniable, timestamped certificate of proof in the blockchain.

Efficient data authentication
There are many instances when we must verify the authenticity of a file – from property records to court documents, to archived backup files. Acronis Notary uses blockchain technology to create a method of confirming data is original and unaltered.

Secure devise and backup
Hackers are always trying new techniques and technologies to attack your data. AI-based defense detects and defeats any malicious attacks – including never-before-seen threats – in real-time, and automatically restores any affected files.

Acronis Notary
Acronis Notary, your personal online notary, uses blockchain technology to certify a digital document's authenticity. Acronis Notary creates a one-of-a-kind, mathematical marker for a file and registers it in the public blockchain ledger. This marker (or hash) is unique, providing indisputable proof that the data is original and unaltered. That means you can guarantee a backup's integrity, prove a document's creation date, or show a legal chain of custody.

Acronis ASign
Contracts need to be signed and with so many people working remotely, that means digital documents. Acronis ASign enables multiple people to electronically sign a document. It then creates a unique, blockchain-based certificate to prove that the document and signatures are authentic. All you need to do is create a backup of the document in the cloud, select the file from your backup, and send it for signatures. Signees get a message with a unique URL where their e-signatures are collected.

Cloud storage of up to 5TB
A Premium subscription to Acronis Cyber Protect Home Office comes with 1TB of cloud storage and access to all of our great cloud-based features. In addition, the premium subscription offers plenty of storage options to match your needs. Get up to 5TB of cloud storage to protect everything you rely on – important documents, sensitive information and files, operating system, and expensive programs.
